

Bram van der Velden

I am a third-year PhD student in Classics at King's College, Cambridge.

Before coming to Cambridge I did a BA and MA at Leiden University in the Netherlands. I am writing a thesis on ancient approaches to ambiguity in literature, but I am also interested in many other aspects of the Classics, including its reception in modern literature and film. I like travelling, reading and playing chess.

